

NAPC | National Association of Primary Care

In association with

Diploma in Advanced Primary Care Management

A one-year course to gain the skills and competencies for managing primary care networks

Develop the expertise to lead the transformation of primary care as set out in the NHS Long Term Plan and new GP contract

I recently started a new job project managing primary care at scale in two localities – the diploma gave me the confidence to apply for it and has had a very positive impact in my new role.

Dianne Taylor, Project Manager, K2 Healthcare (GP federation)

Delivery
partners

Project funded by

Overview

A comprehensive one-year course to enable candidates to gain proficiency and take on senior managerial roles in primary care networks (PCNs). The course is designed for people working in PCNs including the primary care home model – an advanced primary care network. The curriculum incorporates the learning and experience from NAPC's primary care home programme and the new care models programme.

What you can expect

- A practical, online, service development and business management diploma
- Tailormade course for primary care networks
- Qualifications – gain 60 credits (20 per module) at postgraduate level 7. On completion of the diploma, students may apply to study for HFMA's Higher Diploma which provides a pathway to a full MBA awarded by BPP University. A post-graduate certificate providing 60 credits in the Credit Accumulation Transfer Scheme (CATS) is planned
- Network learning
- Diploma alumni to continue sharing learning and best practice

Starting the programme

Next entry point:

- October 2019

Fees

Total fee: £2,800 + VAT

Registration fee: £280 + VAT (payable as a deposit on notification of candidate acceptance, non-refundable).

Candidates can take all three modules separately – subject to the availability of places. The cost for taking one module is £1,200 + VAT.

To apply and find out more:

- visit: www.napc.co.uk/diploma-in-advanced primary-care-management or
- email: napc@napc.co.uk

The programme offers a fantastic balance of flexibility and structure. You can study at your own pace but there is a timetable of learning and engagement to keep you on track.

Nicola Collins, Practice Manager, Selsey Medical Practice, West Sussex

